What on earth is a medical diver?

Buckle up and enjoy the stories of Leonard Starbeck's incredible adventures as an Independent Medical Diver (DMT/IDC), a tactical medic, as a surgical nurse, and Merchant Marine Medical Service Officer.

On any given day, he could be sailing, diving, shooting, or parachuting out of a plane, on duty as a medical corpsman, a boat driver, a marine mammal tech, a dive instructor, a gofer, a chauffeur, and a gardener.

Harrowing medical emergencies associated with diving and high pressure conditions from deep ocean dives, to the top of 12,000 foot mountains looking for un-exploded bombs.

Leonard Starbeck served as a deep-sea diving independant corpsman in the U.S. Navy and Marines for over thirty years.

The House on Cedar Ridge

A mysterious ivory fan, a surprise marriage, and the suspicion a witch was among them... Secrets whispered along the corridors and hidden crevices.

The House on Cedar Ridge: Locke Manor

No peace could be found; the walls within harbored dangerous and frightening secrets. The sunlight upon the walls of the museum cast a deceiving appearance of serenity...

The House on Cedar Ridge: The Museum

A jealous and angry witch was among them... The malevolent danger was as strong and relentless as the waves from Superior. The battle lines were drawn.

The passion for survival The beauty of true friendship...

Twelve year old Carissa's only home is a brothel and her only parent is a drug-addicted mother in Tombstone, Arizona.

After tricking the madam into summoning a doctor, she discovers that Miss Lucille has been drugging her mother. She and the kind doctor make a plan to try to save her.

The only source for the drug is China Mary, who lives in Hoptown, at the other end of town. Carissa has no choice but to go to the powerful woman for help.

Lonestar's Lady* ~~ Lonestar. His name fit him perfectly. It fed every fantasy that Gussie Horton had conjured about Indians and forbidden love. His neighbors whispered that he was a murdering half-breed, which was true. But Gussie believed in second chances, and more importantly, her heart told her to believe in Max Lonestar.

Solitary Horseman* ~~ The Civil War is over but the battles continue. Brought together by bad luck and cruel twists of fate, Callum and Banner forge a partnership they hope will keep them afloat even as neighboring Texas ranchers go under and their land is snapped up by opportunists.

Ropin' the Moon* ~~ He had tumbleweed in his blood, moving from one town to the next. Traveling to where there was trouble, he was hired to tame wild places with a fast draw and an iron will. Lacy knew that Dalton wouldn't be around long and she shouldn't be tempted by him. But like the moon, his pull on her was a natural, powerful force that she was helpless to resist.

Carrie is horrified when outlaws attack the stage coach carrying her and her father west, killing the driver, the shotgun guard, and her father. Left alone in the desert with night coming on, her future seems bleak until a stranger reluctantly comes to her rescue.

Bohannon is a gambler, a wanderer, and a half-breed wanted by the law in South Dakota for killing a white man. He has no interest in taking Carrie to Willow Tree Springs to claim the ranch her father bought, sight unseen. But he can't bring himself to leave her behind.

The trail to Willow Tree Springs is fraught with danger, but as time passes, Carrie's fear and mistrust of the man who saved her prove unfounded. By the time they reach their destination, she's fallen in love with Bohannon, and he with her.

Together, they begin working on the badly-rundown ranch, restoring the house, rebuilding the barn, planning for the future.

But their future suddenly looks grim when Bohannon is arrested and taken back to South Dakota to stand trial for murder. Against his wishes, she follows him, fearing that a guilty verdict will end her hopes for a life with the man she loves.

WHO LET THE DOG? OUT!

Bucky Lew burst through pro basketball's color barrier almost 50 years before the NBA. And playing the game was just a start. He wanted to dominate in every single role—from player to coach to owner.

His dream looked to be deferred when Harry Hough, the league's top scorer, refused to play against a Black man in a matchup that the press billed as a preview of the championship.

The stakes were high—it was a fight for the future of the season, the future of the game, and maybe even the future of sports.
